

Mr. Cushing's Speech, at Newburyport.

We must give Mr. Cushing the credit of producing a readable and interesting speech. It is superior in many respects, to the common run of such discourses. It is lively, sparkling, and fervid. And if we could shut our eyes to the direction or drift, it would be delightful sailing on such a river of rhetoric. But we dare not surrender ourselves to the care of this brave-spoken captain, when we see the mist and hear the roar of the fall just ahead. We may get caught in the eddies, while gazing at the rainbow that spans it.

The grand theme of Mr. Cushing, in this address, is the progress of our country. He prints splendid pictures of the prosperity that now is, and the greater that is to be in the ages to come. He enlarges, in flowing periods, on the rapid growth of our population, our territory, and our national strength. He has much to say of our manifest destiny. He blames the State of Massachusetts for being always in the opposition. He wants her to jump on to the train, and not be forever trying to block the wheels. He represents her as standing still at this moment, in an agony of suspense over the question, "whether certain black men are citizens or not."

The great fallacy that runs through the whole speech, like a black vein in a block of white marble, or a ditch in a flowery meadow, is this: he utterly confounds two different kinds of progress, the material and the moral. He mistakes expansion of area for breadth of thought. He sees no other elements of national greatness than population, wealth, and physical power. He ignores the existence of such things as honor, honesty, justice, mercy and righteousness. He is willing to let manifest destiny rush on, though it run into and break through the ten commandments. But surely no nation can last long, that throws overboard all respect for conscience and principle. The history of the old Roman empire, and of many other empires, is a warning to us. The best of all progress is progress in truth and goodness, reverence for God, and regard for man. Now, as in past days, it is the duty of every christian man, yes, and of every lover of his country, to protect against wrong, to dissent from despotism, to denounce piracy and robbery, to speak, write, and vote in opposition to oppression, whether it be at home or abroad, in high places or low, legalized by courts, or musically defended by the tongue of an Ex-Archbishop General.

The Organization of the General Assembly.

Who is to be elected Speaker of the House? Who are to be the Clerks?—Is the present Auditor of Accounts to retain his office?—What is to be the policy of the incoming administration in relation to creating new Banks, and as to the cost of the State government? are questions which the people are beginning to ask, and which they will repeat until the lapse of time indicates their answers. So far as we have been enabled to ascertain the views of the members elect; we think that there is a disposition to restore the government to that policy which ruled it anterior to the last five or six years. If we are correct in the information which we have upon this point General Greene will undoubtedly be tendered the office of Speaker—not only because of his pre-eminent fitness for the place, but as a mark of respect justly due from the popular branch of the Legislature, to one of the most distinguished men in the State. General Greene was first elected a Member of the House from East Greenwich in 1817 or '18—and was elected Speaker in 1821 or '22—and was subsequently elected Attorney General of the State for some eighteen successive years. He was afterwards elected to the United States Senate, and then to the State Senate from the city of Providence, and now, after the lapse of forty years from the time he first entered the House, while in the full vigor of his manhood he has again consented to serve the city of Providence, in the lower House of the General Assembly. He ought to be elected Speaker by acclamation.

We have heard of several persons who are candidates for the offices of Clerks of the House and Senate,—all from Providence, with the exception of one from this city.—The election of the candidate from this city to one of the places will undoubtedly be accorded, not only from his location but because of his fitness for the position.—We have heard that a past member of the House from Providence has signified his willingness to accept the office of first Clerk of the House. He is a gentleman of fine abilities and if elected we have no doubt he will discharge the duties of the office to the satisfaction of the House.

The present Auditor has discharged the duties of the office well. Some of his official Reports to the General Assembly last winter were not quite satisfactory to a large portion of the Military, but it remains to be seen whether the Grand Committee will think this a sufficient cause for his removal from office.

The people of this section of the State are very thoroughly impressed with the opinion that we have already as many blanks as the best interests of the State require—and they are unanimous in the belief that the expenditures of the State ought to be diminished so, that they shall not exceed its income. They do not believe that the most expensive government is the best for Rhode Island.

LOCAL NEWS.

Mayor Swinburne has our thanks for his kindness in showing us the many convenient and desirable arrangements which he has made for his own convenience and that of his patrons on his wharf nearly opposite the foot of Mary Street. His honor is evidently a business man as the neatness and simplicity of all his arrangements prove.—He has a Steam Engine which he uses for hoisting coal from the hold of vessels, driving a wood-splitting machine, and running coal cars from the vessels discharging to his large and ample shed, which is one hundred feet long by forty five wide. This shed we should think contains room enough to hold the coal of the whole city in one body, and we hope Mr. S. will find no difficulty in both filling and emptying it. His industry and business tact certainly entitle him to the patronage and good will of the whole community.

The New Post Office.

Mr. Atkinson will remove the Post Office into the new building which has been fitted up by the Messrs. Newton Brothers today.

The interior arrangements of the Office are of the best workmanship, and everything has been done to make it a pleasant location.

The building on the outside has improved wonderfully, making it really worthy of its new name. The advantages of an office so conveniently arranged for business will almost outweigh our objections to the location.

It gives us pleasure to call the attention of our readers to the notice in another column of the School of Miss Ann E. Greene. Miss G. comes to Newport from South Bridgewater where she has met with unusual success as a teacher, and as the location of her school is convenient, and her terms moderate, we have every reason to think that she will meet with that success which she merits as a teacher.

We are sorry to inform our friends of the disease of Samuel Nicholson Esq., who died in New York on the 29th ultimo. Mr. Nicholson loss will be much felt in this community, he was about 70 years of age. It will be remembered that he was a partner in the firm of Brown, Brothers & Co., and brother-in-law to D'Arcy Kane Esq. Mr. N. was a native of Ireland, and owned a fine country seat in the suburbs of this city.

We notice among the arrivals at the Aquidneck House, yesterday, our representative Hon. Nathaniel Durfee. Mr. Durfee has represented our district very acceptably in the last Congress, and has been returned by a majority which unmistakably indicates that the people of this portion of the State, wish to endorse the position of outspoken antagonism to the administration, which Mr. Durfee has so ably maintained.

We notice that our indefatigable street Commissioner is mending the main road near the Middletown line, and crowning it with gravel. There is no road on the Island more used, and it ought to be kept in good order.

We learn that the Cod fishing on Block Island commenced yesterday in earnest, very large quantities of Cod and Haddock were taken, and for six weeks to come immense quantities will be hauled daily, giving full employment to every man, woman, and child, on the Island.

We have received from the Publishers, the American Edition of Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine for April. It is a good substantial number, and will be found not only interesting, but profitable reading.

We are informed by Francis Stanhope Esq., that the old Stanhope Estate on Broad Street, was sold yesterday morning, to Mr. Edward Southwick for $4000.

A superior toned Organ has been erected within a few days, at the Methodist Church in Warrten, R. I. The instrument cost $2,200.

BRITISH SWORDS TO AMERICAN SEAMEN.—The Secretary of the Navy has received three elegant swords, in accordance with a resolution passed by the last session of Congress, authorizing several of our gallant naval officers to receive them from the British Government, in testimony of the appreciation by that government of their services in the cause of humanity. They are all of them beautiful specimens of English workmanship, and are to be given to Commander Henry J. Hartstein, Lieut. H. Decatur Frenchard, and Master Morrison of the surveying schooner Vixen.

VENERABLE EDITORS.—Richard Boylston, the venerable editor of the Amherst (N. H.) Cabinet, is, we regret to learn, very low from an attack of paralysis. We believe that Father Boylston is the oldest man now actively engaged in the newspaper business in New England, John Milton Earle of the Worcester Spy, and Ebenezer Eaton, (if indeed, he is still living,) of the North Star, Danville, Vt., are next we believe on the list.—Boston Dec.

GENERAL NEWS.

The electors of Newport have been straining at a knot and swallowing a camel. The Post congratulates its readers on the result of the election claiming the new Mayor elect Mr. W. H. Cranston as an out and out Democrat.

It is fair play to say, that having clung to the Whig party until it was dead, and heartily despising the men who killed it, the miserable issue which succeeded it, he planted himself upon the National Democratic platform.—Post.

Mr. Cranston must unqualifiedly and emphatically denies having any part or parcel with the Democrats, good, bad or indifferent. Thus he says:

It is well known to you and others, that I have always been an old-line Whig,—and I have never yet seen cause to change my sentiments.

How now Mr Post? what d'ye think o'that ar? say! you've nestled a bull frog,—and lo! you discover a toad! Again Mr. C. believes that—

"The principles and policy of the old line Whig party form the real foundation upon which this Republic rests, and that they will again be advocated and sustained with renewed vigor and efficacy, and that our great and growing country will be vastly benefited thereby."

Does that look like planting his "feet" on the National Democratic Platform?—hum? —Prov. Tribune.

A SINGULAR DISCOVERY.—In 1852, a few grains of wheat were discovered in the tombs of some mummies found in the south of France, supposed to have been two thousand years old. These grains of Egyptian wheat were planted, and produced, to the surprise of every one, 1200 to 1! The government took the affair in hand, and consigned the management of it to the farmers of the government farm at Rambouillet. The result has been astonishing. Each year the product has been magnificent in such an immense proportion over the preceding year, that the Minister of Agriculture is now enabled to distribute over France a large quantity of this wheat to each of the departments gratuitously, with instructions from the government farm as to the best mode of cultivation. At a late meeting of the Academy of Sciences, the Baron of Mirmville presented several stocks of this regenerated Egyptian wheat, which were six feet high, and bore each several fine ears.

THE COMING COMET.—This "distinguished stranger" is receiving very bad treatment in advance. Thus, in Paris, they say, the cattle murrain in Germany is all owing to his advent. In England, they blame him for the Chinese and Persian Wars; here, the backward state of the weather is laid at his door. Wonder if the comet has anything to do with the high price of provisions? Has it anything to do with the dirty streets? Has it anything to do with Dr. Burdell, Mrs. Cunningham or Coroner Conner? Who knows? Anon, however, the stranger will be here, to speak for himself—for, as Holmes has it,—

*"The Comet! He is on his way,
And singing as he flies;
The whizzing planets shrink before
The spectre of the skies.
Ah! well may regal robes burn blue,
And satellites turn pale,
Ten million cubic miles of head,
Ten billion leagues of tail."*
—N. Y. Express.

IMPROVEMENT AT BRISTOL.—We learn that the Fall River Iron Works Company have recently purchased the wharf estate used as a steamboat landing, with the view of very much improving the facilities for carrying on their business, and the accommodations offered to the Bristol people through their line of steamers. Two wharves named are to be embraced in one, of a width of more than one hundred feet, and the single structure is to be extended forty feet farther into the water. A building is also to be erected upon the wharf, as a depot for freight and passengers—an improvement loudly called for by the increasing business of the flourishing town of Bristol.—Post Post.

The superiority of American inventive genius, not only over that of our English progenitors, but indeed of all other nations has become too tangible to be disputed. It was notorious at the World's Fair, in London, that the American's far outstripped all others in the useful inventions which they supplied. We beat the English in vessels, railroads, and manufactures by power. We are beating them in the scientific arts of Chemistry and Medicine, as we have long beat the rest of mankind. A new and practical proof of this assertion is shown in the fact that the principal remedies of the allied armies of the East are furnished from the laboratory of our own countrymen. Dr. J. C. AYER, of Lowell, is filling orders for immense quantities of his Cherry Pectoral and Cathartic Pills, for both the land and sea forces in Turkey. His medicines have been tried and approved by those in power, who have found them the most reliable which they could procure for the exigencies in which they are to be employed.—N. Y. Times.

How to "Go It."—Go it strong in your praise of the absent. Some of it will be sure to get around.
Go it strong when you make love to a pretty widow. More people have erred by too little than too much in this particular.
Go it strong when taking up contributions for charitable purposes. It will pay.
Go it strong when you make a public speech. Nine people out of ten never take any allusion unless it cuts like a short-handled whip, or a rhinoceros cowhide.
Go it strong when you advertise—business is like architecture—its best supporters are columns.

Fires.—There were seven fires in Philadelphia on Monday night and Tuesday morning, and property to a large amount, estimated at $50,000 was destroyed. The principal one was the burning of Peter Dourado's soap and candle factory, loss $30,000.

THE NEW YORK POLICE COMMISSION.—Judge Davies, of the Supreme Court has denied the injunction on the new police commissioners, applied for by Mayor Wood.

Interesting News from all Quarters.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Steamer Illinois, from Aspinwall evening of the 20th, arrive here this afternoon. She connected with the John C. Stephens, which brought down nearly $2,000,000 in treasure.

The Illinois brings upwards of 600 passengers, and nearly one million and a half in specie.
Principal consignees—Drexel & Co., $500,000; Wells & Fargo, $50,000; Dun & Sherman, $140,000; Reed & Vank, $3000.

NEWS FROM THE ILLINOIS.—The sloop-of-war Cyane, and British frigate Tartar were at Aspinwall, the latter having on board the remainder of Lockridge's men, two hundred in number, who were to be sent to the United States in sailing vessels.

The British ship-of-the-line Orion had left San Juan for the purpose of blockading Carthagena.

United States Commissioner Morse had taken passage in the Granada for New Orleans.

Lockridge's men, on their arrival at Greytown, were protected by the British gunboats from the Costa Ricans, who followed them down the river. Lockridge remained at Greytown.

Col. Anderson was awaiting, at Aspinwall, the next news from Walker.

The 20th of April was the day set by the Costa Ricans for the finishing attack upon Walker.

The Costa Rican papers give a different version of the battle of the 5th of March, at Rivas. Walker, they say, at the head of 300 men, was routed with great loss of men, arms, and ammunition.

In the battle of the 16th, near San Jorge, 100 filibusters were killed, as stated by dispatchers from Walker's camp. The Allies had twenty-two killed, and sixty wounded.

At the last accounts, in the same paper, Gen. Mora held a position on the north and south sides of Rivas, within 400 yards of the Plaza, and was soon to open fire.

The latest accounts (March 28) state that fighting had continued at Rivas for 4 days, without much impression on either side.

A correspondence had taken place between the Costa Rican General Natuel, and Capt. Davis, of the St. Mary's, in which the latter refused to interfere between the belligerents.

Costa Rican papers of April 8, contain letters from Gen. Mora to the Minister of War. He says Gen. Walker is hemmed in in the Plaza at Rivas, the Allies being entrenched within 400 yards of the limit, and that he was subsisting on mule and dog flesh.

CAPTURE OF AN AMERICAN SLAVE.

KINGSTON, J., 23.—An English man of war has carried into St. Ann's an American schooner, from Africa for Cuba, with 378 slaves. One hundred and thirty-seven had died on the passage, and the remainder were in a starving condition. It was removed another slave was of the cost, and a British steamer had started in pursuit.

THE NIAGARA SPOKEN.—New York, April 29.—The U. S. steamer Niagara was spoken on Saturday, at 3 p.m. 200 miles from Sandy Hook, under sail and steam, making twelve knots.

STAND FROM UNDER.—A writer in the St. Louis Republican says he has made astronomical calculations which warrant the prediction that the Comet (which one?) will touch the earth on the 16th June next, 10 minutes after 10 o'clock, and that the point of contact will be somewhere in the vicinity of Vide Poche or Carondelet, Mo. So look out, ye people of Vide Poche or Carondelet for the nucleus of this Comet, according to the above authority, "is very large, and composed of the bisulphuretted carbonate of the protoxide of manganese. The tit is chlorine, and although you cannot see stars through it, they will probably be seen by many individuals at the time of the collision."
